FELL FROM A BUILDING

Horrible Death of Christian Countain at Salt Lake City.

SON OF WM. DOLLINS.

Was a Carpenter in the Employment of a Railroad Company.

John Dollins, a son of Mr. William Dollins, of Laytonville, this county, fell from a building at Salt Lake City, Utah, a few days ago, and sustained injuries that resulted in his death.

Mr. Dollins had been living in Utah for about four years. He was a carpenter and was in employ of a railroad company, at work on a building, when the accident that caused his death, happened.

He was about thirty-five years old and is survived by his widow, whom he married since leaving Christian county.

He was an Elk and has many friends in this county who will learn of his death with sincere regret.

The remains arrived here this morning accompanied by Mrs. Dollins, and were taken to Laytonville, where they will be interred in the family burying ground this afternoon.

SHOW TO-NIGHT.

Holland's Opera House Flood Proof.

Mayor Meacham has pronounced the opera house one of the safest buildings in the city, and the DePew-Burdette Stock Company has opened a two nights' engagement, starting last night with the great detective play, "A Man of Mystery." This afternoon a matinee will be given, when they produce Mr. Hal Reid's latest and best play, "A Homespun Heart." Their engagement will close to-night with "A Quaker Tragedy," which is said to be one of the best plays put on by this clever organization.

CHILD'S DRESS CAUGHT FIRE

And Little One Was So Badly Burned That Death Resulted.

THEIR ONLY CHILD.

Its Mother Seriously Injured in Effort to Save Her Daughter.

Bertha, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. Samuel Murray, a Sinking Fork farmer, was so badly burned Wednesday afternoon that death resulted the following day.

The child was alone in the house and was standing by an open grate, when its dress caught on fire.

Mrs. Murray was away and Mrs. Murray was in the barnyard milking. The child's screams attracted the attention of its mother and when the latter ran into the house the little one was enveloped in flames. Mrs. Murray tore the clothes from the child's body, but she was horribly burned all over and despite the efforts of a physician, who arrived in a short while, to alleviate her sufferings, she died in horrible agony twenty-four hours later. It was their only child and Mr. and Mrs. Murray have the sympathy of the entire community in their affliction. Mrs. Murray's hands and arms were badly burned in an effort to save their little daughter.

TWO-CENT RATES

Will be Ordered For All Railroads in Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 22.—A 2-cent-a-mile-passenger rate over all railroads in Kentucky will be ordered by the Kentucky State Railroad Commission within the next three months, and probably earlier. While it is possible that some of the roads will resist the order in the courts, it is certain that the order will be issued, and it is believed by the legal advisers of the Railroad Commission that it will be made effective shortly after the order is issued.

All the members of the State Railroad Commission are now in Louisville, putting the finishing touches on a movement inaugurated some months ago, to lower the prevailing freight rates in this state.

Deceased Had Numerous Relatives in This County.

Theophilus Jones, brother of Mr. E. D. Jones and Mrs. Mollie Gregory, of Church Hill, and Mr. John D. Jones, of Beverly, died at his home in Virginia last week. He was about seventy years old and a widower. Mr. E. D. Jones, who was called to the Old Dominion to look after some business matters of his deceased brother, returned home this week.

1 Cent Advance.

Coal is higher here than has been known for many years. It has been selling this week at 14 cents a bushel. Some people have predicted that it will be higher still before mid-winter. It has been scarce this week, but fortunately the weather has not been very cold. Should there come a drop in the temperature in the neighborhood of zero somebody will suffer without improvement in the supply of coal.

TIME MARRIAGES

Favored By Actor Under Arrest In Evansville.

Charged With Enticing Young Owensboro Girl From Her Home.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 21.—William Youngman, a stranded actor, formerly with the DePew-Burdette Stock Company, was arrested in this city on the charge of enticing Miss Anna Kerns, aged 15, a pretty little telephone girl from her home at Owensboro, Ky., a week ago. Youngman rented a room at a hotel and lived with the girl as his wife for several days and nights. The girl wanted to go on the stage, and became infatuated with Youngman, who it is charged, promised to marry her and get her on the stage. In the police court to-day, Youngman told Judge Winfrey that he was an advocate of "prolatory marriages," and added that he might marry the girl after living with her a while. Judge Winfrey severely criticised Youngman for entertaining such ideas of marriage and bound him over to the circuit court in the sum of $1,000. The girl was sent home.

GREAT CROWDS

Are Now Hearing the Eloquent New Pastor of the Baptist Church.

The meeting at the Baptist church is growing in interest and the attendance has increased largely since the weather changed for the better. Thursday night the congregation overflowed the main auditorium and almost filled the Sunday School room, which had to be opened. Dr. Jenkins preached from the text "What seek ye?" and the discourse was one of the best he has delivered. He discussed in detail the seeking of money, of honor and of pleasure, and then closed with an appeal to the unconverted to seek Jesus, taking as an additional text Mat. 6:33. Six persons went forward for prayer, and after several earnest voluntary prayers, the pastor closed with an fervent and powerful prayer, dismissing the audience in conclusion. The song service conducted by Mr. R. B. Holden is much enjoyed. The platform has been widened, and the chorus increased, and many new songs have been learned.

The services yesterday were at 10 a. m. and at 7 p. m., and the congregation last night was again very large. There will be but one service today, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, especially for children under 16 years of age.

Tomorrow the usual services will be held, except the morning sermon will be preached at 11 o'clock. Dr. Jenkins is growing upon the people at every service.

Lord Curzon, former viceroy of India, is visiting his wife's relatives in this country. His wife, who died this year, was Miss Mary Leiter, of Chicago.

The Republicans are trying to get Justice John M. Harlan, of the Supreme Court, who is getting too old for the bench, to run for governor of Kentucky. Judge Harlan tried this experiment in 1875 and will hardly be persuaded to go against certain defeat again.

Secretary Taft undertook to intercede for the negro soldiers discharged for rowdiness at Brownsville and President Roosevelt wired him that the case was settled and could not be re-opened without new evidence. New companies will be mustered in to take the places of the three companies discharged. Only those members who were absent on furloughs will be permitted to re-enlist. Score one point for Teddy.

Bishop Jno. J. Tigert, of Louisville, died at Tulsa, L. T., Wednesday, aged 59 years. He went west to hold the India Mission Conference, the picture of health. A piece of chicken bone lodged under one of his tonsils, making an abrasion from which blood poison resulted. Dr. Tigert was a native of Louisville and came up from an humble position by his own brightness of mind and strong personality. He was made a Bishop of the Methodist church about a year ago. He leaves four sons and two daughters.

Robert Orthwein has filed suit in the St. Louis circuit court against Col. Tom J. Landrum, formerly of Mayfield, Kentucky, asking actual damages in the sum of $50,000 and punitive damages in the same amount, a total of $100,000, for alleged slander. He says that Landrum has made sundry false statements concerning him and his family, by which he has suffered in reputation and in actual state of his finances. The statement complained of is to the effect that Orthwein squandered his wife's fortune, etc.

FIRST FIGURES TOO HIGH.

Entire Loss in City Will Be Covered by $30,000.00 or $40,000.00.

STREET LIGHTS OUT.

The Wrecked Garnett Building to be Taken Down and Rebuilt.

Now that the excitement of the flood has subsided with the flood itself, it is being found that the estimates of the KENTUCKIAN of $30,000 losses, with an estimate of $19,000 to cover unreported losses, was not far from correct. The losses in the aggregate from the flood will not be beyond $30,000.

The heavy losses are J. F. Garnett, building, $10,000; P'Pool & Raugh, stock, $3,000, with probably $1,000 salvage; W. A. Martin, stock $3,000, with $1,000 salvage; W. H. Olvey, stock of $300, with some salvage. These losses were all in the building in which the wall fell, pulling the roof down. Waller & Rogers, whose furniture loss on the second floor was $1,200, will be able to save about $200. This makes the total loss there about $15,000. Kress & Co., have not given out an estimate of their loss. The cellar is now clear of water, and the heating plant running. The estimate of $3,000, based on a total loss, may be reduced one-half, as chinaware, glassware, etc., was not hurt. The loss to the millinery stock of Davis, Kennedy & Co., estimated at $600, may be reduced to $300. Miss S. B. Hooser and Keegan & Co., in adjoining stores, find that their estimates of $100 each were too high. They lost nothing at all. V. M. Williamson's loss, put at $200, was not too low. It will be $400, as his cash register is ruined. Ketch & Co., put at $500, will get off at half that. They moved back yesterday into the ware room that was flooded. The Tabernacle loss was also much too high, and may be cut down from $1,000 to $250. Other losses were about as reported by the KENTUCKIAN. Some new losses have been found. One of these that was heavy was that of W. H. Cummings & Co's tobacco warehouse, on Elm street. Their damage is probably $2,500.

W. T. Williamson, Robt. Vaughn and Mrs. Emma Boyd, who live on Elm street, all lost $25 to $50 each in fencing, etc. All of the heating plants submerged are again in operation. The front wall of the Garnett building is to be torn down as soon as the contract can be let. The City Light Co. is one of the heaviest losers. Their plant was 2 feet and 7 inches under water and the damage was so great that it will be several days yet before the street lights can be turned on. Chas. Duckert, the youthful engineer, staid in the engine room until the water forced him out and he waded through water waist deep in escaping. The loss in the country in flooded wheat fields, shock corn swept away and fences destroyed is larger than at first reported.

Near Caledonia a young lady whose name could not be learned fell from a foot-log over a swollen creek and was rescued with much difficulty.

The Home Telephone Co. is still busy repairing its conduits. Two new manholes will be put in to reach the injured cables. Mr. T. D. Armistead had his household goods stored in a submerged cellar and they are almost a total loss. The Bradshaw pond on the Clarksville pike, swam a horse in the road. The protracted meeting at Casky shut down for several days, but resumed Thursday night.

A. W. Pyle saved his fiddle by a piece of luck. Monday evening he got it from a drawer over P'Pool store and left it that night in the office over the adjoining room, which did not fall in the collapse. He forgot to return it to its place was all that saved it.

A PROTEST.
As a citizen of Hopkinsville, and building line enables him to estimate with a fair degree of accuracy the damage sustained by the various business houses during the overflow which occurred a few days ago, I may be pardoned for taking issue with the statements published by the newspapers of this city, which placed the loss at nearly $100,000. I visited those parties whose losses consisted of merchandise and got their own estimate since I was not familiar with those values.

In most instances, the merchants stated that at the time they gave their first estimates to the reporters, they were not in a position to be accurate, and to a great extent approximated their losses. Today I called upon them, and they corrected the first reports, and the following will serve as an illustration of the exaggerated character of their first estimate:

J. F. Garnett, collapsed business houses, resulting from water around foundation, $10,000; first report $20,000.

Anderson-Powder Drug Co., $500; first report $1,500.

I. C. R. R. Co., $1,500; first report $2,500.

Bassett & Co., $200; first report $1,000.

Union Tabernacle, $250; first report, $1,000.

City Streets, $200; first report, $1,000.

Underwood's corn crib, $100; first report, $500.

It was news, indeed, to see in Wednesday's Courier Journal, an article headed in large letters, "Hopkinsville Under Water," when as a matter of fact there were only one-half dozen or so stores wherein the water reached above the cellars and then only a few inches, and a few cabins inundated that were located immediately on the banks of our much maligned Little River. I am convinced that $30,000.00 will cover the entire loss sustained by the citizens of Hopkinsville.

This article is not intended, as a reflection, upon our newspapers, altho their reports may not be entirely free from the sensational. It is written in defense of an innocent and harmless little stream which has been accused of submerging the prosperous City of Hopkinsville. Hopkinsville has never been and never will be under water. If there is anything above Hopkinsville but the great blue dome of Heaven, it is the privilege it is to claim citizenship in it.

Very truly yours,
GEO. E. GARY.

Awfully Good.

The police force has been having a good time since the flood. Everything has been as quiet as the first few days after Noah went forth from the ark with no one to raise a racket but his own family. An inspection of the slate at police headquarters yesterday morning showed that not a single arrest had been made for Wednesday or Thursday. Either the tough characters had all been hunting or have suddenly become very good. But it may be the calm that precedes the storm, but let us not cross the bridge until we get to it—if it wasn't washed away by the flood.

BIG $1,000 COURSE.

Big Course Will Be Put On This Season.

At the recent meeting of the Tabernacle Board, it was decided to ask the general public to aid in repairing the building, by voluntary subscriptions, and it was thought wise to ask the churches to take up a special offering for this cause. At that meeting the secretary-treasurer was directed to go ahead with the course, as outlined, and that the board would see that the repairs were paid. The season tickets will be reserved this year, with no reservation of seats, as was the case last season. This was a mistake we made last year, and this season the seats will be reserved, as they are chosen, so it is best to get your tickets early and be in line, and you will get the desirable seats. No small boys will be allowed in the gallery this season, they can get seats down stairs. In the gallery, one good healthy boy can make enough noise to ruin the enjoyment of several hundred people down stairs. Early next week a large force of workmen will be sent to the tabernacle, and the building will be put in shape again. The expense will not be so great as was at first thought, it may be possible to do the work for $500. No one can tell until the water under the house subsides, but we hope the subscriptions will be enough to cover the cost. Subscriptions to date are as follows:

Mr. Ira L. Smith.....$10.00
Mr. E. B. Bassett.....10.00
Cash.....3.00

Many of our local ladies report having their plants froze.
Surprise parties are all the go. Ah, ha!
The town marshal took up another fellow for being tipsy last night and locked him in the cooler. Oh, the curse of strong drink!
An oyster supper is talked of for soon.
The schoolhouse needs shining.
A dining school may be had here this winter.
Many of the chickens hereabouts have plump.
More anon next time.

Girls, learn to darn! In after years when your restless husband wants to go downtown on an evening and leave you all by your lonesome, you can trot out your darning basket and sweetly ask him to chuck off his socks so you can darn them while he is reading the evening paper. Once the sock is in your hands, you will keep him as dumb as an infant at the ferm, ad valorem, etc. It is a mighty mean man that will go downtown at night barefooted while his poor, little, helpless, lonely wife is at home darning his socks.

Speaking of Sox—but then, there's no use rubbing it in on the Club. They did their dearest!

Do you remember the nice women socks that mother used to make? And wasn't that a funny string that always dangled from the toe and which we were not to pull for fear the stocking would unravel?

And that reminds me, I hope you keep your toenails carefully manicured. It saves no. No sex delinquency in having a sharp weapon gouging into its own all the time. Be kind to your toes! They will last longest.

One nice way to manure your toenails, if you are fat, is to slide up to a chair, slowly draw your foot onto the chair seat and rest balanced. The stool over as far as you can without making your eyes bug out and tap the nail on the big toe with a ruler that has cut out its usefulness as a beard-trimmer. Stop cutting when you are out of breath, and rest awhile. You won't accomplish anything in hurry, matters, and besides you may cut your toes.

I remember a very pretty bride cut her toe hurrying to get breakfast, and died of blood-poisoning three days later.

You don't want to die of blood-poisoning, even if you are not a very pretty bride!

They covered her grave with sweet forget-me-nots—and that winter the thermometer went down to 49 degrees below zero in the shade and the man got married before 12.

Now is the time, too, for donuts! Gee, I can smell them fresh in the hard right this minute. Look out! The hot lard will fly and burn you the eyes! Oh, I know how to do it all right, all right! I mean to steam a batch of donuts and eat them while the lard is hot, too!

I like those open work, peek-a-boo hats. Somehow the "hairs" of Victorian never seemed to me. I couldn't string 'em on my finger and count 'em the way I could the peek-a-boo donut.

Speaking of donutnuts reminds me of that old, old conundrum: "Where, oh, where, are the holes in last year's donutnuts?"

That will be about all cooking school is out for today.

FREIGHT COLLISION

Causes the Death of Engineer Coene.

As a result of injuries received in a sideswipe collision of two L. & N. freight trains at Edgefield Junction Wednesday afternoon, Engineer Coene, of Earlington, died at an infirmary in Nashville Wednesday night. Amputation of one of his limbs was necessary and he never rallied from the operation, as the loss of blood from the time he met with the accident and his arrival at the hospital had been too great. His father arrived too late to see him conscious. The remains were brought to Earlington Thursday morning.

AGED LADY PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. Martha Wood Died at Two O'clock Yesterday Morning.

BORN IN VIRGINIA.

Was a Sufferer From Heart Trouble For Many Years.

Mrs. Martha Rogers Wood, mother of Mr. Hunter Wood, died yesterday at 2 o'clock at the home of her son, in the 82d year of her age.

Mrs. Wood was a daughter of Dr. James B. Rogers and was born in Albemarle county, Va., in 1824. A brother, Dr. Wm. G. Wood, though her senior, is now a practicing physician of Charlottesville, Va.

The deceased was, in early life, married to Dr. Alfred C. Wood and four children were born to them, namely, Hunter, James, Alfred and a daughter, Grace, who died when young. Mr. Hunter Wood is the only one of her children now living, and during most of her residence here she made her home with him.

The deceased for many years suffered with heart trouble, and on that account had to deny herself the pleasure of mingling with her friends for a long period. She was a woman of unusual intelligence and great kindness of heart and a devoted member of the Episcopal church, and though unable to attend its service for many years, always had a keen interest in church affairs.

Through all the years of confinement at home she was patient and calmly waited for the time when she should be released from her suffering and called to be again with her loved ones gone before.

The funeral will take place at Grace Episcopal church this morning at 10 o'clock. Interment in Hope-well Cemetery.

TO PLAY PADUCAH.

The High School Foot-ball Team Went to Paducah.

The H. H. S. Foot-ball Squad of 14 men left yesterday morning for Paducah, where they engaged the High School team of that city. The squad consisted of Bartley, Faxon, Meacham (capt.), Breathitt (mgr.), Lyon, Earle, Abbott, Huggins, Tichenor, Slaughter and J. Breathitt. They are lighter by 12 pounds than the Paducah team, as they average only about 134 while the Paducah boys average 146 pounds. Nevertheless they were confident of out playing the heavy-weight, by superior skill and training. Mr. Carlton Galbreath went with the locals as general assistant.
